BOYS TURNED ADrift

Enticed From Home by Man With Candy.

FOUND ASLEEP ON A PIER

Approached by Strange Man Who Gave Them Candy and Sent Them Off in a Trolley Car—No Clue as to the Man—Found by Night Watchman.

BROOKLYN, August 14.—An excited woman ran into the Bedford avenue station shortly after midnight and told Lieutenant Lyons that her two boys, one five years old and the other seven, had been missing from their home at 23 Metropolitan avenue, since yesterday morning. Between her sobs the woman said her name was Mrs. George Timmen. She said she was sure the children had been kidnapped because she had just learned from neighbors that the children were seen walking away with a strange man. The woman had scarcely finished talking when she collapsed and had to be assisted to a chair. Lieutenant Lyons rushed from behind the desk and tried to revive the woman, but his efforts were fruitless. Then he sent in a call for an ambulance to the Williamsburg Hospital, which brought Dr. Vogt. He revived the woman.

Lieut. Lyons sent out a general alarm to all the police stations in Greater New York, but nothing further was heard of the children until about three hours later, when the night watchman at the public bath at the foot of North First street heard a noise at the end of the pier. He investigated, and found two little boys lying at the edge of the dock apparently asleep. He shook the youngsters and woke them up. After a lot of questioning the boys said they were Stephen and Leo Timmen, 5 and 7 years old, respectively.

The watchman called a policeman, who took the youngsters to the Bedford avenue station, where they told Lieut. Lyons that they had been approached by a strange man while they were playing in front of their home. The stranger offered them some candy and then took them for a long walk. After they had gone a long distance the man put them on a trolley car and they were taken at the Grand-street ferry. They walked around in an effort to find their home, but were unable to locate it. Finally they wandered down to the dock where they fell asleep.

The children's mother was summoned and when she saw the boys she came near fainting a second time. The youngsters were taken home by her.
